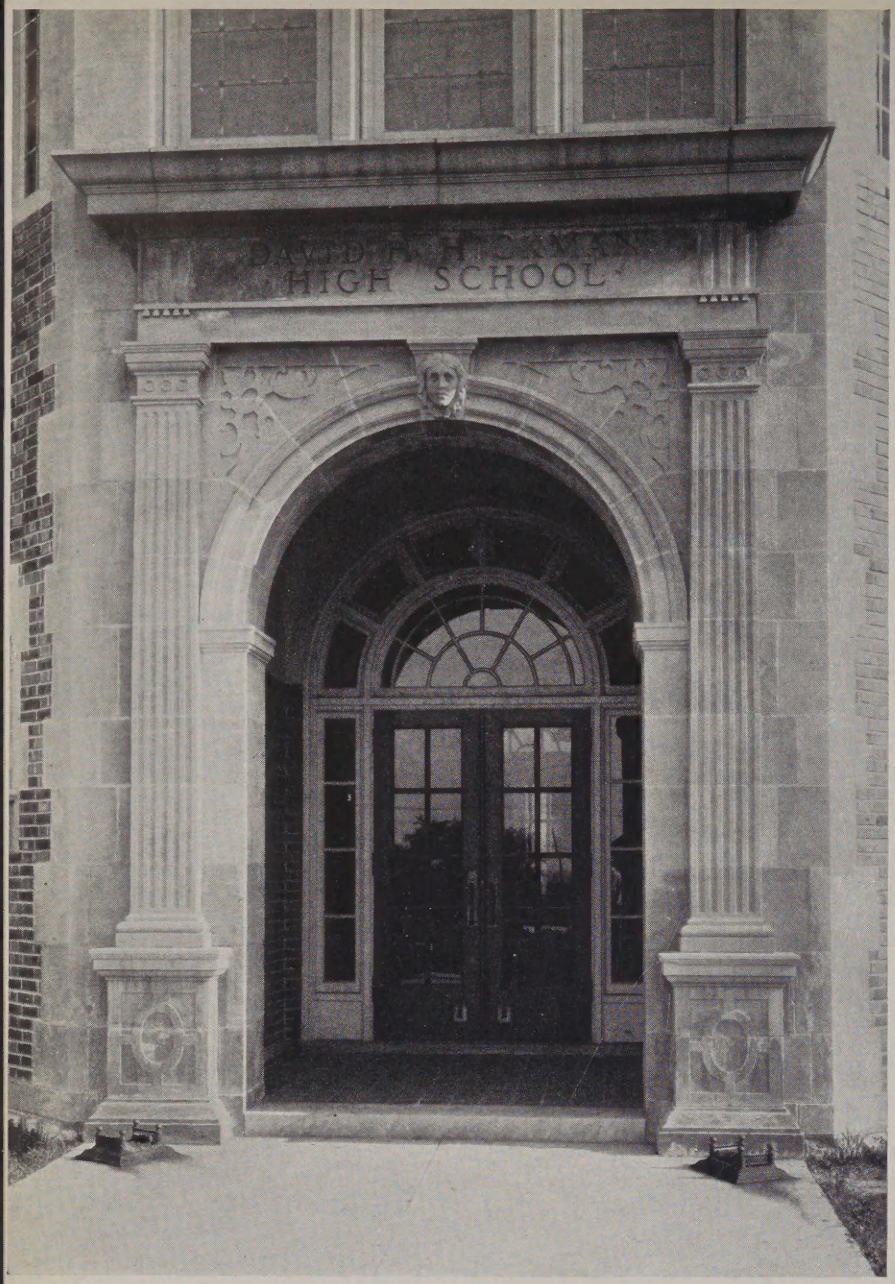
THE BIG PARADE

"There are all kinds of

"parades at Hickman"



O-U-R

"We that love thee, we that made thee. . . . ."

Here are two doors . . . and something else. A front door, a back door, and something more . . . more than just so much brick. We take something from Hickman we never forget . . . and never quite remember. Perhaps it's the way the halls stretch through the building . . . holding us under a powerful wing of protection. A sort of lost love, maybe, or something which is really there, and isn't.

A back door, a front door, and something else. You understand. . . . .

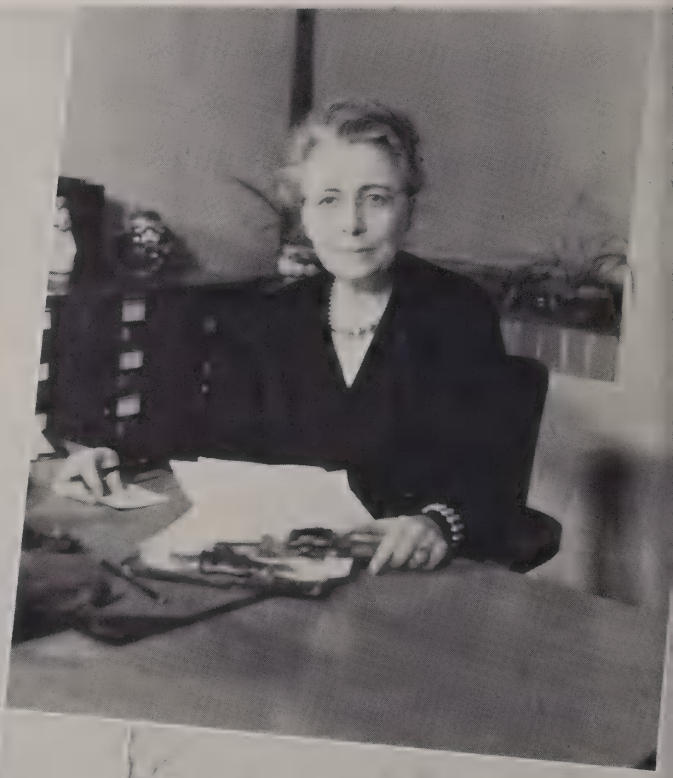
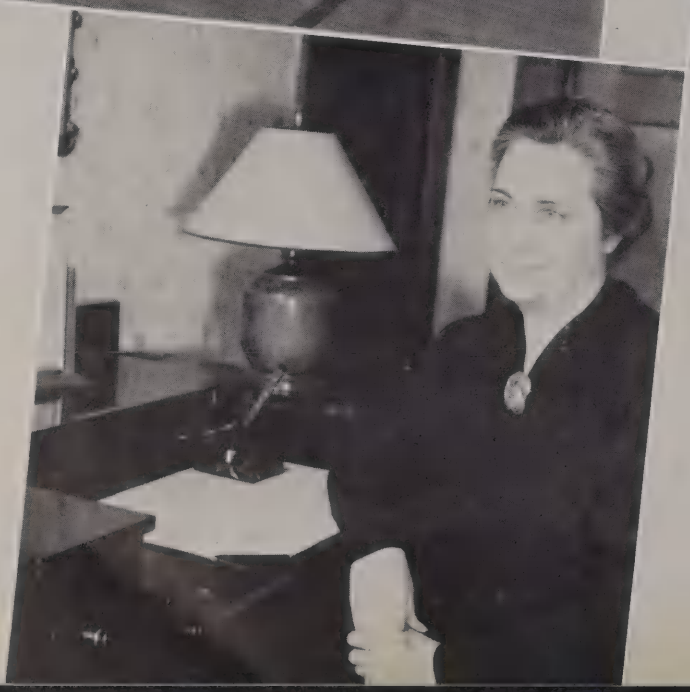
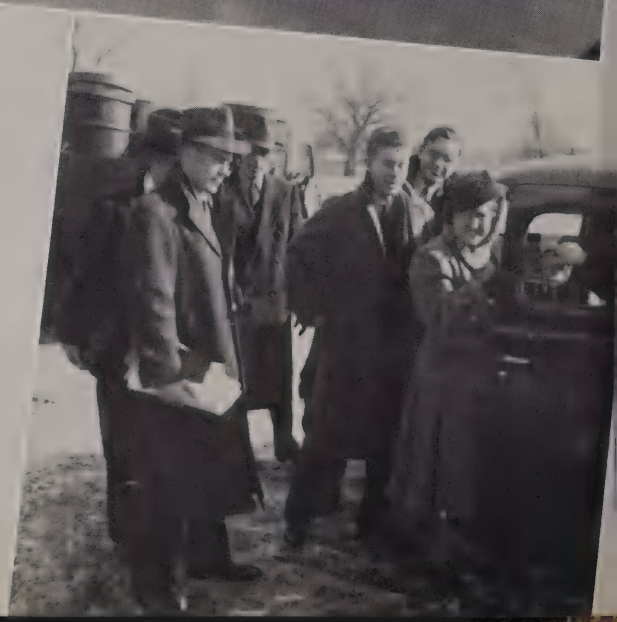
THE

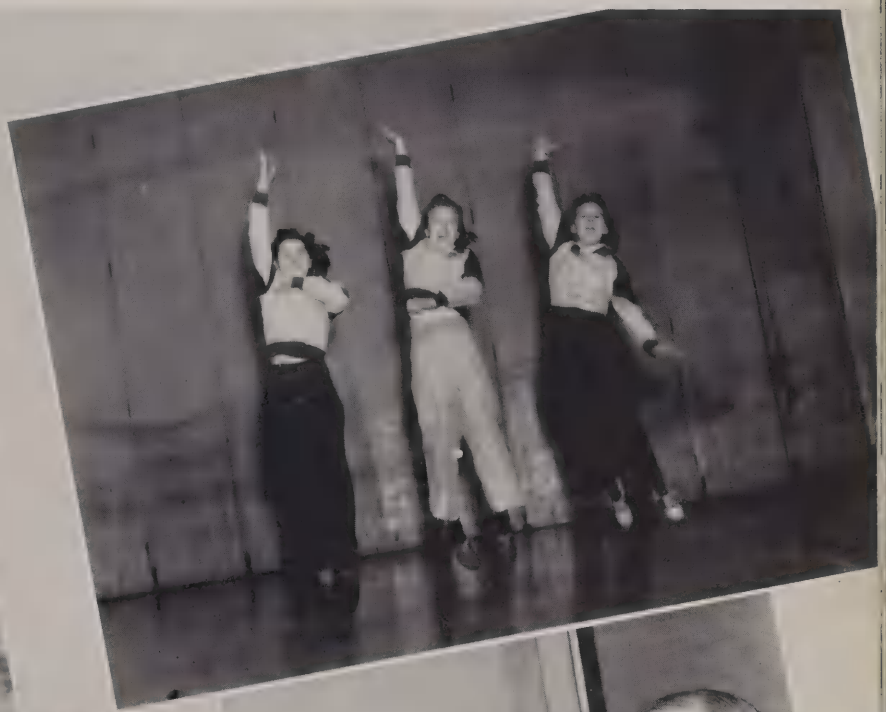






LEADERS

The Doctor really believes in comfort. . . . Mrs. Harris, Parent Teacher's presiding officer . . . Wonder if there's anything we could do for you this time, Miss Crawford? . . . So long boys—so long! . . . Step high, brother Bibb. . . . These are leaders. . . . Unngh!—stretch it girls. . . . Now make a note of this, Miss Perkins. . . .



DR. ROSENSTENGEL

No one realizes more keenly than Dr. Rosenstengel, our superintendent of schools, the need for keeping ahead of the times. As a result he is painstaking and tireless in his efforts to gear the school curriculum to the stern demands of our changing economic and social life.

Frequently in the midst of busy days he takes time to come to visit Hickman students. He is always welcome. Come often, Dr. Rosenstengel.

DR. DIXON

Our versatile principal, Dr. Fred B. Dixon, can be found almost any day at a variety of tasks including speaking to home rooms and other schools, and promoting better student-teacher relationships. He sponsors an educational regime which believes that education for democracy is not merely a question of knowledge, but development of a well rounded personality as well.

Dr. Dixon believes that a balanced diet in education should contain not only the basic essentials of classroom performance, but also experience in leadership and citizenship.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The governing body of Columbia's public schools is composed of a group of eight men whose aim is to promote student welfare and to provide for the youth of the city proper educational facilities and a well chosen corps of instructors.

C. Moss Edwards, president; Dr. Hugh Stephenson, vice-president; J. R. Hall, secretary; B. C. Hunt, treasurer; M. P. Blackmore, Earle Dysart, Leslie T. Proctor, and Clyde Shepard.

MRS. WILLIAMS

"Who's that conducting the Verse Choir?"

"Well, who's in there juggling club schedules?"

"Who's directing the Senior Play? And the Speech Festival?"

"How about the Debate Squad —who coaches them?"

Each and every one is Mrs. Williams. She's here, she's there, she's everywhere. Assemblies, recitals, plays, Liberty, debates, and more. How she does it all and still has that friendly smile for us, we can never tell.

We have had two happy years together - Miss Howell

We're sure many a hard-working destiny-climber from Hickman will promenade the dimensions. They'll remember, too, the fun they had back in the old school learning . . . algebra, with a goodly sprinkling of sorts of jokes . . . and geometry, with the befuddling trig, under the gentle supervision of an all-wise little teacher.

Math courses are analytical and stiff, and one must constantly apply that eternal, valuable, and frequently unknown substance . . . elbow grease. But when we do learn our math, we really have knowledge tremendously useful to us in the many phases of a life which fairly shouts profit and loss, adding, subtracting, and finding something that oughta be.

Up there on the east side, around where those demon typewriters exuberate their staccato deliveries, revolves the most desirable combination of interesting and practical courses which could possibly be available in education. Commercial, that's what it is, blanketing valuable subjects . . . typing, shorthand, salesmanship, commercial geography and arithmetic, and a gathering of other vital studies to help us on our own. Three able teachers are kept on the rustle directing these scholastic industries, and their some 300-odd students devour training with an ample digestion of neatness, speed, and accuracy.

We don't wish to disturb the class, or wake any young artist who may be resting, but I suppose we can sorta just slip in and do a little snoopin' without creating any fuss-up.

On our right, and on our left, to the front and to the back, we are jolted and jostled by the hustling about of busy girls and boys, and we hurriedly swerve from the traffic to inspect the local compositions of drawing on yonder wall. Art students are not hurriedly pushed in their work, but are spurred by their own initiative. This method is stimulating to some, and also stimulating to others, whom one might find involved in a mighty crusade of slumber. However, any young hopeful can find all the training his talent and ambition can measure under the expert supervision of Miss Eisenberg, who is at present serving as the center of interest in a gathering of fascinated students striving to mimic the just right brush technique.

The girls had a new gym teacher this year, and from what we hear from the boys who peep through cracks in the auditorium door, Miss Taylor really gives them a workout. Some uproar was caused in the second semester by strains of the Fisher's Hornpipe, or Beer Barrel Polka drifting sweetly from the gym, but we curious fellows soon found that the girls wre indulging in a great sport . . . folk dancing, to the accompainment of mouth harp and fiddle.

Hockey, basketball, and volleyball were included in the first semester regime, and they were drilled . . . military style! Poor, tired, l'il feminine chums!

Becoming more conscious of "history in the making" . . . hmm, sounds rather interesting, doesn't it? And a large number of students imbibe in the mysteries of the past with quite some zest. Nearly all discover "Mayflower ancestors, or famous foreign friends, and distant relations to present-day European leaders strut their stuff in studying rises and downfalls of empires. The news-packed American Observers, and revealing current magazines keep us alive to the present while the study of the past gives us the historical background of modern situations.

A lot of pleasure may be had from speaking a foreign language. Yes, German, French, and the rest are difficult, but the uses to which different tongues can be put usually overbalance even the effort required to learn them. Before the mail was heavily censored in Europe, many language students corresponded regularly with unseen foreign acquaintances.

Cooking, children, is undoubtedly a major part of a good wife's destiny. It's a keg of fun working in the kitchen of Hickman, and Miss Elliott's understudies faithfully study diets, and plan meals. Naturally, the girls especially enjoy making fudge and desserts, but they realize the greater importance of other foods. The preparation of breakfasts and lunches is left to the first-year girls, while the more magnificent dinners are handled by second-year learners.

Up in a corner of our building, a northwest corner on the second floor, is a queer sort of haven for bugs, suffocating odors, plants, and a general diffusion of Newton's theory. Through addition of new equipment, and a large increase in the enrollment, our science department is fast becoming one of Hickman's most popular and efficient organizations. Perhaps one of the reasons for the enjoyment of this subject, is the tense excitement in the atmosphere. No one would expect a test tube to shatter, setting at liberty some expanding and dangerous gas, but it has happened, and the resulting commotion is very stimulating. We worry when one of the pet bugs under observation has too many off-spring, and we are thrilled when we think of the ever-revolving bodies in the very chair on which we are seated! Needless to say, all this interest and acquisition of useful knowledge creates an air of enthusiasm for science which is seldom equalled.

Francisco Diaz

Don Pohlman

After our strength is sapped from dodging gerunds, ducking participles, and grappling with infinitives, we find brief respite in a little Shakespeare, a particle of George Eliot, or perhas a smattering of Joseh Conrad, supplemented by a multitudinous number of themes tossed in for exercise.

Behind all this historic mass of literature and grammar, there is, despite our overworked minds, a well planned study program designed to prepare us for any grammatical or literary emergency.

From the mournful wailing of a lone mouth harp to the grand and triumphant symphonies, music is to every man just what he wishes it to be. This young lady is playing the way she feels . . . hot, with plenty hep-hep, or soft and sweet, or classical.

Strains of "Finlandia," touched with the courageous sound of the band, sift from the auditorium, swelling our spirits to a mighty crest of stimulatum. And the triple trio consoles us with its facile harmony. Hickman's music department has worked in the past few years to form an efficient and polished organization. Especially during recent months, improvements have come over the band, orchestra, and music room. Even the tip of Mr. Stookey's baton has been straightened from its former bent and shameful state. The concerts are bolstering the financial strength of the department, for, you see, no matter how much genius and skill, there's always the financial side!

I guess maybe we are so busy for the Gym teacher - Such and prosperity through life - Frances Victor Mighty interesting work, boys? They don't hear us, but that's answer enough. It is interesting work, and you couldn't drag them away from it with a sextette of dinner bells. Just wandering around th shop, we keep stumbling over motors and belts . . . jig-saw, band saw, lathe, joiner, drill press, and a good many other fine pieces of equipment. It's all in good condition, and we see by the protecting look in Mr. Strong's eyes as they follow us about that he's one big reason for clean, smooth running machinery.

Masterpieces of wood-working are often in plain view on the floor . . . chests and tables. Over on the south wall are cabinets with all sorts of everything, from an old milk bottle to a can of wax polish which can be used for floors, automobiles, shoes, or fingernails. There's another cabinet over there, but we'd better not poke around in it, for it harbors all the private work of the boys around the shop.

Whenever anything is found wrong around school, a jar of paint with a stubborn lid, or a marked up or broken chair, first aid is quickly administered by Mr. Strong and his host of tools.

Here, before our very eyes, is a shot of those eminent journalists, artists, creators, and nervous wrecks. Throughout the year, they have lived and breathed one fundamental, . . . to get that Cresset ready for hundreds of eager students . . . take those club pictures . . . take 'em again . . . sell ads, write those feature articles . . . pay bills . . . beg Vernon to work . . . and among other things, and above all things, remember the combinations on the Cresset desk, lockers, and equipment. And plenty more. This article strives to give these boys a meager but hearty thanks and a little praise for work done day in and day out for benefit of all the school. Thanks, fellahs.

ACTIVITIES

Whadda we do next? And we never know, for we have so much to do . . . but of course having lots to do is what keeps us happy and out of mischief, where children should be.

All seriousness aside, though, wouldn't this be a dull existence if we didn't have a play, a concert, a carnival, a parade, or a Cresset to work on? Yes it would. Of course, some of you don't agree, for you would rather just take it easy with a ripe "laissez faire" attitude toward life. Well, you take the low road; we'll take the high school, and all the training in curricular, extra-curricular, and other species of activity in which we might indulge.

STUDENT COUNCIL

You've heard of the Finance, School Spirit, or Assembly committee. Those little organizations are only parts of a much bigger one . . . Student Council, and are just three of many tasks which the Council strives to accomplish.

Completing payments on new band uniforms was one of this year's looming projects, while little pleasantries, such as the publishing of safety handbooks, guide books, and activity tickets . . . sponsoring Kewpie Karnival, and the Homecoming parade . . . stood forebodingly in the background.

Dr. Dixon puts his whole-hearted faith in student participation in school government, and ably advises the student president on democratic direction of Student Council activities.

NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

Twelve of Hickman, painstakingly chosen by the brotherhood of preceding years, and Mrs. McHarg, make up the Hickman chapter of the National Thespian Society. Superior dramatic ability, shown by participation in plays and other outstanding speech work, make hardworking boys and girls eligible.

We all recall with a smile the gigglarious "Sugar and Spice," first play of the year, which drew the laughs from our all-too-stern countenances. No wonder when we realize it was directed by the Thespian sponsor, Mrs. McHarg, who has also directed several other plays with great success.

Seated: Mrs. McHarg, sponsor, Fred Gaebler, Robert Smith, Wilkes McHarg, Betty McAdam and Jackie Tucker.

DEBATE SQUAD

Girls: Jane Windsor, Jackie Tucker.

Boys: Ed Romack, Ralph Loomis, Fred Gaebler, Pat Patterson.

NATIONAL FORENSIC

If you've partaken in a little National Forensic, you've got something to be proud of. All the work, and skill it takes to go to Liberty and enter your art . . . well, you can certainly tell your grandchildren all about it.

At Hickman, Forensic activities are divided into two sections, debate, and declamation. The debate squad, although inexperienced, did themselves right with a rather successful season this year, winning the regional tournament, tying for first place at the Missouri Valley tournament, tying for second place at the invitational tournament at Webster Groves, and staying till the quarter finals at the state contest in Liberty. The boys say debate is the best thing in the world.

For the second time in Hickman speech history, the declamation group returned from Liberty with a state winner, Jane Windsor, who had dramatically pushed her deserving self to first place with a cutting from "Wingless Victory." Ed Romack did all right with a seventh in the state; he had us all in stitches with that "Green Pastures" sermon.

QUILL and SCROLL
PURPLE and GOLD

When a bunch of people get together with a center of interest, they usually form a club. Writers around school make up an organization called the Quill and Scroll. All members are journalists supreme, and are interested fundamentally in the art of the pencil.

That amalgamation of harmless gossipers . . . that worthy organization, giving us the monthly news, written by expert keyhole peepers, is the Purple and Gold. Seriously, the school paper does cover many activities and such which we do like to hear about. Now take the back page. . . .

To a swell girl, the best of everything

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

"I love a parade." Who doesn't? There goes the band in magnificent formation, with their umphy lookin' drum major strutting that very same umph out in front. That band is getting better all the time. Mr. Stookey takes the kinks out of things, and we like the way his band touches up the tempo of ol' Hickman. And the orchestra. The girls who play on the big bass viol. . . . the boy who is right hefty with the tuba . . . or the young fellow who struggles with the violin . . . they work hard . . . every day. And it's fun. Whatever anyone is doing around here, it usually has something to do with music, and that's fine, for music is fine.

Such Work! Such Art!

Swing High—Swing Low—

Hickman's Pride

"Listen to the mocking birds!"

All-together now!

"Oh Little Town of Bethlehem"

VOCAL MUSIC

All the world loves a singer, and all the world would love to sing, so many Hickman students belong to Miss Weaver's choral groups. She has formed two glee clubs, two mixed choruses, and smaller special groups, such as the triple trio.

Class work in vocal music consists of part singing with frequent doses of modern music.

The Spring Musical was ably presented by the entire vocal department this March, with old English and modern music combined to make an entertaining play.

Best luck always to a cute little girl.
Mary Royston

VERSE SPEAKING CHOIR

A child comes to Hickman with many ambitions . . . one is to be in Mrs. Williams' verse choir. They take trips, they give recitals, they study poetry, and have fun, too. "Reinstating the image," as Mrs. Williams would put it, is in art and often is very humorous.

In the inset we see a few of the boys working out on "Indian Squaw Dance," Edward Romack leading and Joe Dorlaque doing the yelling. This realistic number created much furor each time it was noisily but skillfully presented to audiences.

A STADIUM IS DEDICATED

. . . The band displayed itself in erect formation . . . trumpets blared approval under the blinding flood of new field lights . . . yells, laughter, and chatter . . . inspiring speeches . . . the eminent school board overlooking the entire panorama. A full yellow moon, looking down through clear cold, anxiously awaited the game, while 2000 other witnesses waited, too, and shivered.

Then came the presentation, and the acceptance of our new stadium and athletic field, dedicated to the three ideals of Fair Play, Loyalty and Cooperation. Fever of glad excitement spread from stands to players, who so thoroughly "did their part" by soundly trouncing Slater Wildcats all over the field.

When all had left to celebrate victory, leaving the old moon alone over an empty battlefield, he didn't mind. No, he just smiled, sort of smug-like, and went off to bed.

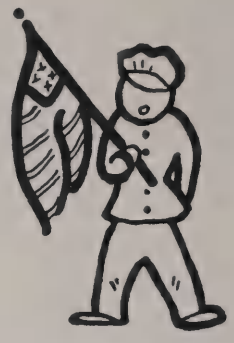
THE HOMECOMING PARADE



Now here, children, are shots from the homecoming parade. What an afternoon! Did you ever? Probably not. With and between photographers, decorators, ropes, trucks, and streamers, one might have had a difficult time. In fact, several did.

Dr. Dixon fulfilled his everlasting ambition of starting on time, for he stood wig-wagging the signal for the parade to begin on the very dot of father time's journey. No one knows quite how many different times we were halted in traffic jams on the way to the business section, but, we did get there, and marched down the streets with pointing fingers, leering countenances and giggling children on every side. . . .

Then it was all over . . . another parade gone, a parade where an icy wind persistently tore streamers from floats, and cut through to our very bones, while we shivered and shook. . . . Back out to school we raced, to unload trucks and rip off decorations. And many of us were late to our suppers.

FOOTBALL

Kewpie gridders rampaged through their initial game of the season, squelching Slater to a mere nub. Buddy Burnett scored the first touchdown after a sustained drive of 93 yards. Jack Burnett featured a pass attack in the second quarter, and Jack Lockwood plunged over. The final touchdown was made by Buddy Burnett, when he knifed his way over left tackle.

Final score—Hickman 20; Slater 0.

Columbia marched roughshod over the inexperienced Normandy sophomores, who were supposed to afford the Kewpies with their strongest competition. The initial touchdown was scored on a reverse from Jack Lockwood to Paul Collins, who carried the ball over. On the opening play of the fourth quarter, Jack Burnett skirted left end for 18 yards and another touchdown. The final touchdown was the result of a 12-yard dash by "Tracky" Nichols over right tackle. The visitors' only touchdown was the result of a sustained drive after they received the kickoff in the final quarter.

Final score—Hickman 20; Normandy 6.

Unloosing a powerful running attack and deceptive aerial game, the Kewpies annexed their third straight victory, running rampant over the Kirksville Tigers. Buddy Burnett tallied twice, Jack Pettit twice, John Hudnell once, and Jack Burnett once.

Final score—Hickman 37; Kirksville 0.

The Kewpies continued their winning ways with a fourth straight victory, holding Hannibal Pirates to one tally. Touchdowns were made by Jack Burnett, Jack Lockwood, and Buddy Burnett. After Hickman's first score, Hannibal countered with a long pass and a touchdown. The Pirates led at the end of first quarter, but the Kewpies regained the margin in the second quarter, and never relinquished it.

Final score—Hickman 32; Hannibal 7.

The Kewpies defeated their arch rivals, the Jeff City Jays, by a comfortable margin to the satisfaction of some 3000 spectators who came to see the fun for Homecoming. The Kewpies went scoreless in the first quarter, but started crossing the line in the second, with Jack Lockwood, Buddy Burnett, and John Hudnell lugging the leather. Jeff City got a break in the fourth quarter when Pettit fumbled a Jay punt and Lagree of Jeff City recovered and scored from the Kewpie 36-yard stripe.

Final score—Hickman 24; Jeff City 7.

Quincy, Ill., imbibed in sweet revenge from the defeat they had suffered here last year at the hands of the Kewpies, by leading them by the very same margin. Both teams battled each other through three scoreless quarters, but Quincy scored twice in the fourth, achieving a much-deserved victory. Curran scored both of Quincy's touchdowns, establishing himself as individual star of the game.

Final score—Hickman 0; Quincy 12.

With the championship of the Central Missouri conference at stake, the Kewpies defeated the Sedalia boys on the latter's field. The Kewpies scored their first touchdown in the second quarter with Buddy Burnett going over on a fake reverse. The second counter came as the result of a "break," with Sedalia fumbling and Bill Toler recovering for the Kewpies on the Sedalia 28-yard line. After a series of running plays, Jack Burnett plunged over.

Final score—Hickman 13; Sedalia 0.

With their running attack stopped cold, the Kewpies resorted to the deadly accurate passing of Jack Burnett, providing the margin of victory over Missouri Military Academy of Mexico. The Kewpies scored first in the opening quarter on a pass from Burnett to Nichols. Late in the third quarter, the Kewpies marched from their 48-yard stripe to the Cadet 2, and from there, Buddy Burnett plunged over for the counter. Howard Goslin converted for the extra.

Final score—Hickman 14; M. M. A. 0.

First Row—P. Collins, J. Burnett, B. Burnett, C. Nichols, R. Coats, J. Betz.

Second Row—Coach Hatfield, A. Bangert, B. Toler, R. Hartley, J. Thomasson, N. Nash.

Watcha talkin' 'bout, boys? You ain't havin' such awful tough luck. In fact, if you'll just stir around a little in the records, you'll find that you are eminent cage contenders. Look at Jim Hardy. He isn't so sad. Whyn't you be like him?

Now fellahs, watch the Coach do it. And remember to keep that finger right where he has his.

Young Mr. Betz is craning his neck for to see the scoreboard. He wonders if the Kewpies will be able to hold their lead. They did. We understand Jim was often puzzled by the complicated workings of all those gadgets.

BASKETBALL

Kewpie cagers defeated Boonville Pirates in both games this year, holding the upper hand in both contests. Setting the margin at 23 to 14 in the first game, the Kewpies raised it to 41 to 27 in the second, a high scoring contest which saw Coach Hatfield use all his reserves, and finally Jim Betz, team manager.

With one of the best offenses they have shown this season, the Kewpies overwhelmed M. M. A. at 44 to 35 in their first encounter, and turned them back at 20 to 15 in their second.

The Kewpies took two cage contests from the Hannibal Pirates this year, polishing off this formidable foe once at 37 to 28, and later at 23 to 17. Jerry Thomasson was high point man at Boonville, and Bangert on the home court.

Jefferson City blasted any hopes the Kewpies may have had of winning the conference championship, defeating them in the capitol city, 18 to 15. Later, they came to Columbia and nosed out the Kewpies by a one-point margin, 28 to 27. Their second encounter was one of the most thrilling games witnessed on the Hickman court in recent years. "Smokey Joe" Woods was high point man, with an individual total of 12 points.

Kirksville also turned down the Kewpies in two encounters this year, first at 29 to 26, in which game the Kewpies made far too many personal fouls. This defeat left the Kewpies at third place in conference, and it didn't help any when the Kewpies went to Kirksville and the Tigers did it again. The second time the score was 29 to 23. Bryan was high scorer of both games, and Bangert runner-up both games.

The Kewpies won over Sedalia Tigers both games. After the first contest, which was a wildly played affair, the score was 26 to 22. In the later encounter, the Kewpies raised the marginal bid to 33 to 25. Bangert copped individual scoring honors of both games.

The Kewpies advanced to the second round of the regional tournament at Marshall by defeating North Kansas City, 43 to 40. Bangert was high scorer.

After advancing to the finals by defeating Independence in a second round game at a score of 38 to 36, the Kewpies suffered defeat at the hands of Rockhurst High School, at a score of 34 to 24.

TRACK

Hickman High School has one of the best track teams this year that we have had the past five years. The season was started with six returning lettermen, Captain Russell Hudnell, Buddy Burnett, Russell Hartley, Jack Pettit, Charles Nichols, and Paul Collins.

In the State Indoor Meet Columbia placed fourth behind Christian Brothers, Maplewood, and University City, all of St. Louis. This is by far the best that any Columbia track team has done in this statewide meet. Scoring by Columbia was as follows: Paul Collins first in the pole vault, Russell Hudnell third in the shot, Russell Hartley tie for third in the high jump, medley relay team fourth, and the 880 relay team third.

Sedalia, defending conference champions, defeated Columbia in a dual meet at Sedalia 65 to 49. Two meets remain on our schedule. The Central Missouri Conference Meet in which Columbia is expected to win second place behind Sedalia and the State Outdoor Meet in which Columbia is expected to make a creditable showing.

SOLILOQUY ON SINNIN' AN' FRIENDSHIP

Here it is May again. Another year gone. Gonna graduate this spring, I think. Hope I get that job in Colorado this summer. That'll be plenty all right. I'm gonna work hard. I'll work hard in the university, and I'm gonna work hard when I get out of the university. Gonna be a big somebody. Got lotsa ambition, I have. Well, I should have. Everybody oughta have, 'cause there's lotsa places to use it.

I sure had a lotta fun in high school. Sort of a stampin' ground to let off my inexperienced oomph. What'd I like best? Oh, I dunno. The clubs were pretty good. There was somethin' else. Maybe the teachers. Most of 'em were really swell. Why? Well, they always helped a fellah. Lotsa times I wasn't doin' so good, an' they'd kinda talk me into workin'. And they didn't hafta take the trouble, but they would. Dances? Heck yes, we had dances. Good ones . . . fair ones.

I liked the principal especially. He's a square guy, and that's all there is to it. Yeah, I know everybody calls him Doctor, and I know he teaches at big places in the summer. I know all that. But underneath, he's a square guy, and just can't help it. When a fella wanted to talk to 'm, he just closed his mouth and let the fellah talk . . .

say all he wanted to . . . then he'd sorta yawn an' say, "Well, I'll do what I can." An' he'd do more'n that; that's why I liked him . . . I 'member all the fights ole Joe Sapp had. That boy'll never learn. And those biggety sorta boys who were always talkin' smart about the girls at Stephens. . . . And Miss Kitchens . . . Ya know the way she sorta slips down the hall? Tickled me to death. The football boys. Weren't they the heroes? Wouldn't step outa the house without those big C's on their brawny chests for anything. An' that crazy Cresset staff! They were all nutz, and couldn't help it at all. Pitiful!

Oh, there's a lotta things I could sit down and remember . . . like the way the sailor came and carried away Velva Dene . . . Were ya ever backstage at a speech festival? Lordy, the roof acts like it's goin' to fall in too. . . . Ya know the way Dorlaque gyped us all on the calling cards? He's just too smart for us. . . . Wonder if Pritchet will always have her golden key to everywhere? ? ? ? Isn't that Wilkes a dinger? My, what a democrat! And Fred Gaebler . . . he's so funny. Old Vernon . . . wonder if he'll ever ever get that girl? ? ? All the different things we had to do! If it wasn't the Kewpie Karnival, it was the Senior Play, or a poster contest, or an assembly, or the May Fete . . . always sumpin'. But it really wasn't so bad at that—kinda fun, especially when you had a say-so to get out of class.

Now I'm figgerin' bout graduatin' I sorta think of Hickman as an old friend, and I guess he is. How could a building seem like a friend? I don't exactly know. All I can say is that from the boiler room, and the very tunnels under the school to the ridge on the roof where the pigeons promenade, Hickman seems like a person. A person who surely has a record, hidden away somewhere, of all the kids who ever ran the halls for three years. A record of the good little girls, the bad little girls, and the good little boys, and most of the boys. Ol' man Hickman most likely has another little record of all us problem children . . . a little book with black marks in it for every time we put our initials on a chair, pull somebody's hair, or make a face at a teacher. Yessir! An' ever now and then he takes out this little book with the marks and he looks at it and frowns at all the names on the list. Then he smiles, and finally he opens up and laughs. Yessir I said laugh! He just naturally slaps his thigh till it tingles like a surfboard. Then he closes the book and puts it back up on the shelf. Someday he's gonna crack down on us problem chillun!

When the blossoms fall . . .

WE HEAR much talk today of the Lower Third—that part of the population of our great country poorly housed, ill-fed and underprivileged. Every city has its slums and hand-to-mouth workmen. In rural communities, too, there are all too many who know nothing of the "more abundant life."

In a large measure this deprivation is no fault of our social system. The facilities for the development of our youth are adequate. In our land of equal opportunity the urge to stay out of the Lower Third must come from within each individual.

There is no better formula for the avoidance of this pit-fall than a fine education. Within the scope of a well developed intellect lies the Power, Leadership and Riches of the "more abundant life."

You students of HICKMAN HIGH are indeed fortunate in that you have the facilities for a splendid education at your very doorstep. Our great State University offers a diversified course of study to suit your particular desires. Within the halls of that institution you will have every chance to develop your fullest powers.

The advantages of a fine education will be more apparent to you as time goes on. And when the numbered days of youth give way to mellow maturity—and the blossoms fall—the MORE ABUNDANT LIFE shall be yours.
